

Leadership change at the B.PRO Group

Dr. Ralf Klöpfer hands over to Andreas Ostermann von Roth

At the end of the year, B.PRO's CEO Dr. Ralf Klöpfer will leave the company at his own request. As of December 1, 2025, Andreas Ostermann von Roth will join the company and assume responsibility as CEO. The experienced manager previously worked for the Group's sister company BLANCO from 2020 to 2023, where he was known for his holistic, customer-focused approach to operations. Over the next two years, he will focus on adapting the business model and advancing professional food logistics at B.PRO.

"During his tenure, Dr. Klöpfer successfully took significant steps toward the operational stabilization and strategic development of B.PRO. He led with clear communication, thereby fostering trust among the workforce. We would like to thank him very much for his great commitment and, his valuable contribution, and the good cooperation in this responsible role, and wish him all the best for the future, both professionally and personally," says Frank Gfrörer, CEO of the BLANC & FISCHER Group.

Effective December 1, 2025, Andreas Ostermann von Roth will join the B.PRO Group and take on the role of CEO. The 61-year-old is no stranger to the BLANC & FISCHER Group: From early 2020 to June 2023, he served as COO at BLANCO, where he was responsible for the newly established Operations department.

Group CEO Frank Gfrörer: "Thanks to his extensive expertise and his holistic, customer-focused approach to operations, Andreas Ostermann von Roth has proven himself to be a respected manager with excellent operational skills. We are delighted that he is now returning to the BLANC & FISCHER Group in a new role, after taking time out for personal reasons. The ongoing business challenges at B.PRO call for forward-looking decisions to ensure sustainable competitiveness."

Andreas Ostermann von Roth: "In taking on this responsible role at B.PRO, I am very pleased to be able to build on my time at the BLANC & FISCHER Group, which was both very exciting and enjoyable. The focus of my work over the next two years will be on adapting the business model and advancing B.PRO's professional food logistics."

"We are confident that Andreas Ostermann von Roth will significantly advance the B.PRO Group. We wish him every success in his new role and look forward to working with him," emphasizes Group CEO Frank Gfrörer.
